

TALK

WHY READ TRAGEDY TODAY?

With Professor Peter Holbrook

Tragedy delivers bad news—it tells us, for one thing, that we are not in control of our own lives. So, why bother with it? Peter Holbrook, Professor of Shakespeare and English Renaissance Literature at the University of Queensland, will address this question in the context of the tragic drama written in the time of Shakespeare.

Presented in association with The Australian National University

Wednesday 11 March, 6 pm

Theatre, free

Bookings: nla.gov.au/bookings or

02 6262 1271 (Mon–Fri, 9 am–12 pm)

