

NSM Semantic Workshop

22-23 July 2016, ANU

Venue: Baldessin Building, Basham Room E2.03

	Friday 22 July NSM in theory and practice	Saturday 23 July Minimal English and other extensions and applications of NSM
8.30	Coffee and Warm-up	Coffee and Warm-up
9.00– 10.30	Cliff Goddard (Griffith): “So much from so little?” The theory of semantic molecules – Respondent: Zhengdao Ye (ANU) – Discussion	Anna Wierzbicka (ANU): “What Christians believe”: Religion and Minimal English – Respondent: Jean Harkins (U. Newcastle) – Discussion
10.30– 11.00	Coffee	Coffee
11.00– 12.30	Jock Wong (National University of Singapore): “Respecting other people’s boundaries”: a quintessentially Anglo cultural value – Respondent: Hilary Chappell (EHESS, Paris)  Anna Wierzbicka (ANU): Translatability and global understanding – Respondent: Dominie Dessaix	Forum Session (short talks and discussion)  Carol Priestley (U. Wollongong): NSM for Learning Development Ray Kelly (U. Newcastle): An Aboriginal language perspective William Maley (ANU): Minimal English in diplomacy? Bert Peeters (Griffith/ANU): Narrative Medicine and Minimal English Cliff Goddard (Griffith): NSM and language technology.
	Lunch (12.30–1.30pm)	Lunch (1.00pm)
1.30– 3.00	Rachel Thompson (Griffith): Cultural scripts for some Ghanaian ways of speaking  Lauren Sadow (ANU): Australian cultural scripts: Perspectives and modifications for an ESL context  Gian Marco Farese (ANU): “Sorry boss”: an unrecognised category of English terms of address
3.00– 3.30	Discussion	